My Dear Parishioners,

Praised be Jesus Christ! All of us who were living remember well the morning of September 11, 2001. And chances are we remember the days after. It would be hard and certainly foolish to forget. One of the many books written about those days was entitled: "WE WERE THERE". It's a short but inspiring read about priests who ministered to others in that time. Priests like Frs. Kevin Smith, Ray Nobiletti and Kevin Madigan, all of whom were there and who reminded others that God also was there.

17 years later, as I write this column, I could use that reminder once again: THAT GOD IS HERE. To help, I share excerpts from a recent article by David Mills, a fellow Pennsylvanian Catholic.

Fr. Rogers

In times of testing, it's good to remember that God was there as his chosen people chose other gods and fought with each other and split up into two warring nations. He was there, as the great and good ones of the day cold-bloodedly murder his Son, and Jesus' best friends run for cover. He's been with His Church through all the centuries, including all the times her leaders failed so badly. He knows every horrible act, every stupid move, every bit of laziness and selfishness and pettiness, every lying, cheating, lowdown thing his people ever did. Neither McCarrick nor the attorney general's report were unknown to him.

One thing the Father knows is people. He gave us a Church that's as people-proof as any human institution can be. He knew from the beginning what we would need: a place we knew we'd meet Jesus, a place where we'd find out what he wants to tell us and how he wants us to live, and where we'd get his help and aid.

He created the Catholic Church. He created the Petrine office, and gives its holder the grace to guard the Church's teaching and unity. He created the episcopacy and priesthood, and gives those the Church ordains the power to celebrate the Sacraments, especially the Mass. God was looking out for his people from the very beginning. He knew we'd sometimes have really bad shepherds. But the fundamental things, the necessary things, they always work no matter how bad Catholics get. Jesus lives with us in the Tabernacle and gives himself to us in the Mass.

Our Father didn't promise all of these men would be saints, or even just run-of-the-mill good guys. He promised that the gates of Hell would not prevail against his Church, no matter what. He promised to be with us to the end of the age. He promised to write straight with crooked lines. For God so loved the world, and so deeply knew his people, that he gave us the Church.

On Good Friday 2005, then-cardinal Joseph Ratzinger reflected on Jesus falling for the third time. He saw the shame: "How much filth there is in the Church, and even among those who, in the priesthood, ought to belong entirely to him," he said.

Here's the prayer with which the future pope responded to that insight, it's a prayer we might make our own this week:

Lord, your Church often seems like a boat about to sink, a boat taking in water on every side. In your field we see more weeds than wheat. The soiled garments and face of your Church throw us into confusion. Yet it is we ourselves who have soiled them! It is we who betray you time and time again, after all our lofty words and grand gestures. Have mercy on your Church; within her too, Adam continues to fall. When we fall, we drag you down to earth, and Satan laughs, for he hopes that you will not be able to rise from that fall; he hopes that being dragged down in the fall of your Church, you will remain prostrate and overpowered. But you will rise again. You stood up, you arose and you can also raise us up. Save and sanctify your Church. Save and sanctify us all.

FAITH FORMATION

Transfer of the Sacred Remains of St. Katharine Drexel

New Tomb to be in place in September, 2018

The Archdiocese of Philadelphia recently announced that the sacred remains of St. Katharine Drexel will be transferred from the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament Motherhouse and Shrine in Bensalem, PA. to the Cathedral Basilica of SS. Peter and Paul in Philadelphia this summer. The new location for St. Katharine Drexel's tomb will open to the public in September, 2018.

St. Katharine Drexel was canonized on October 1, 2000. She is the second American-born person ever to be canonized. Born into tremendous wealth as part of the Drexel family, she gave up her life of privilege to found the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament in 1891. She dedicated her life to serve the needs of African Americans and native Americans, and inspired so many women, who joined the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament to follow her example. Today, the Sisters continue to serve in elementary and secondary schools, as well as at Xavier University of Louisiana in New Orleans, the first Black Catholic university in the U.S. They are also involved in a variety of other services including pastoral and spiritual ministries, social services, counseling, religious education and health care, primarily but not exclusively among Black and Native American peoples.
